All Roads Make No Pretense of Running on fime-Great Inconvenience Caused by the Storm in New York fity and Suburbs. By Associated Press New York, Feb. 13-The driving snow storm which began here, Saturday night, and continued all day yesterday, is raging to-day with increased violence. It is the result, so meteorologists say, of the blending of two storms,-one from the Gulf of Mexico and the other from the Northwest

While the cold was not so severe as for the past two or three days the driving wind from the northwest, accompanied A HOUSE AND FOUR ACRES OF BLACK DIRT FOR by snow, heightens the effect and makes he weather appear more unsudurable, The storm is the culmination of climatic rigore so far as the poor and distressed of this city are con cerned.

The streets of New York are drifted with snow like those of some large vil lage. The delay to urban and subuchan traffic is greater than ever before this winter. With the exception of the "L' roads, which are congested with slaverng people, ao attempts have been made torun ou schedule time. The delays on the ferry lines have been accentuated by the bliggerd. Both the North and East rivers are filled with floating ice, the Enet liver on healarly bong difficult of navigration. This caused an immensa begins to the Brooklyn Bridge, and the wild ruch for bridge trains was indescribable People living in the suburbs of Brooklyn and in Queens, Richmond and Bronx, in some matances have been unable to reach the city owing to the stailing of the surface care. The snow in the suburbe of Brooklys is pried up in some places in drifte five feet high.

WRECKING A COWBOT.

Maw a Tenderfoot with a simbetta Did Rim Up in a Little Guz Play.

"There is at least one cowboy in Arisone whose head is three sizes smaller than it was a month ago," said the Chicago drummer, as he brushed the alkali dust off his coat coller. "At Tombstone I fell in with a young man from New Haven who was prowling over the country in search of a good thing, but not caring much whether he found it or not. One afternoon he stood with his back to the street, reading the posters on a billboard. He had on a silk hat and presently a cowboy emerged from a store on the opposite side of the square One glauce at that hat brought out a gun, and there was a pop! pop! pop! till six bullets had been fired. The tenderfoot never turned, nor let on that he heard the shooting. In ten seconds the gun was reloaded, and there was another fusiliade. There were a hundred people looking on and shouting and laughing, but the tenderfoot kept his back to the street until the twelfth shot had been fired. Then be calmly turned about, removed his hat and placed it on the ground, and stepping back a pace or two, he drew his gun and shot it to pieces. The remains were yet smoking when he picked them up, erossed the square, and holding the handful of old hat out to the cowboy, he humbly said: "'If you have a couple of months to spare I might be willing to teach you how to handle a gun!"

"But badn't the cowboy's bullets hit the hat?" was naked.

"Every blessed one of them," replied the drummer, "but no one knew it except the tendericot, and he destroyed all evidence by his own shooting. The crowd took it that the cowboy had missed and raised a laugh on him, and when he straddled his cayues and loped down the street, he looked as homeaick with a brother in this valley, says that se a dog a thousand miles from home."

Youthful Ingensity. In physics and natural history there are opportunities to direct and control the out-of-school activities of young people of which the enthusiastic teacher of science is not slow to avail himself.
